

April 18th, 1981.

Mr. Guy Angers,
ROUGIER INC.,
8480, Bld. St. Laurent,
Montréal, Canada.

It was sad for me not to be able to talk to you on my last visit to Montréal.

It was sad for myself and for our business too, because I was carrying several new products which have a great success in our markets and which could be successful also in Canadian markets.

I insist on the importance of "Inyesprin", which has the advantage of being both oral and injectable, which makes this kind of aspirine terribly successful. You have seen this the last time I saw you and I very well remember that your son, who was present, liked it very much and promised to follow the matter with interest.

I like to advise you on the importance of our new product "Inmunoferon". It is a very new thing in the field of therapeutics and I am sure that it is of a great interest in Canada.

I am as always at your disposal to discuss these novelties and many more and I shall intend to go to Canada around the end October or beginning November.

I am sure that you know how deep is my sorrow on the passing away of Daniel Iturralde, my good and great friend. I want to see Terèse.

Mr. Lefebvre gave me the cheques for 1980 and I beg you not to wait again one year for paying me, if it is not too inconvenient. The crisis is great and I need the money.
