Your letter of May 26th reached me a week ago on my return from the Mediterranean cruise of every Summer. The letter has been following me from port to port through Italy and Greece and Turkey. Sorry for my delay to answer it.

Since my arrival I phoned everybody in Barcelona and today I consulted my brother, Nicolás, who is now in Mongofre and who has been Head of the Parks of Barcelona for half a century. Nobody knows the St. Lorenzo Cemetery and myself I do not know any cemetery in Barcelona which contains a broad stream of water.

My Secretary, Miss Maria Angela Cerdà, grand daughter of the greatest architect of Barcelona, does not know anything either of such a cemetery, but she knows a lady who has just published a book of Cemeteries in Catalunya. We shall do our best to find this book.

As soon as I find this book I shall send it to you and in the meantime if somebody knows something about a St. Lorenzo Cemetery in Barcelona or nearby, I shall send it to you immediately.

Sorry to have spent so much time in answering you, I remain sincerely yours, con un gran abrazo for you and Catherine,

Fernando A. Rubió.
