Dear William Gillespie,

I wrote you a while ago, in a Christmas Card I had good news from the Royal House Hold.

If nothing arise to stop the will of the Royal House, His Majesty shall do something for the Convention of the "International Bar Association" to take place in Madrid, between the may 18 and 22. I intend to be in Florida, beginning of march and probably in that moment we will have more explicite news.

If the lawyers in Madrid do something before march, about the problem, I shall be delighted. The more people works about the better.

Best regards to Sally
